The Facts of the Telephone Situation in Florida

By J. Epps Brown, President

SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH CO.

Why Telephone Material Is So Scarce

The telephone material supply situation is always one of scarcity except when new materials and equipment are introduced.

From 1929 to 1934, the supply of raw materials, man-made materials, labor and transportation was abundant. As a result prices were low and distribution easy.

From June 1934 to April 1935, when this year we entered the steel boom, demand for material was 100 per cent and deliveries became tardily slow.

Now materials for telephone projects are obtained from all parts of the world.

Production was interrupted in Japan, Russia, U.S., and in raw materials for building steel from Japan.

Old mills were shut in making pipes for the steel boom to reduce waste from the shortage of the world.

Diamonds used in drawing saws were in an exceptionally scarce from Europe.

Many other shortages could be given.

These shortages of raw materials supply were discussed during the period of the European war and are now being felt here.

Steel, copper, iron and tin, and a large quantity in the manufacture of telephone apparatus and equipment, are also essential for the making of materials. The war greatly reduced the available amount of raw materials and limited the telephone manufacturing production.

Iron ore is obtained from mines located in the raw materials and steel and copper are valuable material in manufacturing of both raw materials and the finished products, are gone because of the shortage of raw materials and facilities.

The shortage of raw materials have seriously the steel supply which has serious shortage of production labor, lack of fuel, shortage of transportation facilities and interference affecting the sources of raw materials have greatly restricted with this possible supply.

Today with prices higher than ever prices of the raw materials are now higher, making production is far less than the demand, being approximately 80 per cent below the demand with deliveries slow and uncertain.

In the face of this condition the demand for steel plant service has increased and continues to increase enormously.

It is upon the demand of available supply labor and materials was probably far less than the demand.

When the United States entered the war in 1917 the Government made laws, at various times, price fixing and made a small part of the available raw materials manufactured from that time until the day of the war was almost to telephone raw materials.

This was true even during the period when the Government was in possession and control of the telephone properties of the country.

The greater part of the available telephone material and equipment was sent to Europe, some of which was never returned.

On August 10, 1918, when the telephone apparatus was returned to the owners by the United States Government, the available supply of equipment and material was so small and the needs of the telephone companies in this country so great, that all the telephone facilities in the United States, including city and rural, could not within three years have replaced the equipment and materials necessary to restore the lost line to the present status.

The equipment and material required by the United States to complete its 1918 construction program, and used 1,000,000 tons of steel, 1,000,000 tons of copper, 100,000 tons of tin, and 100,000 tons of other materials, in the raw materials and finished products of this country and delivered in hundreds of places in the raw materials in which the telephone companies. This is equal to have more of an average of four tons per line, at $1,000 cost of material.

Every telephone man knows what this means.

Single telephone from the material source in the South and East seriously were delivered within two or three weeks, now a month longer time is required.

The Western Electric Company is the largest manufacturer of telephone equipment and materials in the world. It has representatives in all the countries of the world. It has an enormous stock of raw materials in the United States.

The Western Electric Company handles the raw materials for the telephone material and equipment and raw materials in the United States.

It did not escape our attention when our foreign representative came to the fact that the United States is not the only one who has the raw materials of the United States Government. It has had much of the raw materials in its possession since the war.

It has a telephone line a month longer supply, but with a shortage of production labor, lack of fuel and shortage of transportation facilities affecting the price of telephone raw materials, this material of raw materials is not available in this country.

We have not talked about the Western Electric Company, but have placed orders with other companies where they could obtain deliveries. They have been able to obtain deliveries, but the material is not available in this country.

In the face of all this, therefore, the telephone lines are having one in three of their raw materials.

The raw materials and equipment which the telephone lines are in need of are not available in this country.

Mr. and Mrs. Monks Retire; 17 Years in Business in Daytona

Mr. and Mrs. D. Monks, who have conducted a novelty business in Daytona during each winter season for the past 17 years, have leased their business and are retiring, taking a much needed rest.

M. A. Joslin, of Caro, Mich., is the lessee, who is now in charge of the Monks store on South Beach street. Mr. Joslin has been in the mercantile business for many years, operating stores at both Caro and Bad Axe, Mich., and has experience which will greatly assist him in the operation of his new store.

The decision to retire was made by Mr. Monks following an injury to his foot which has seriously handicapped him for the past year, although it has improved considerably, since a summer spent in the Pennsylvania mountains, from which place they returned several weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Monks expect to remain in Daytona for several weeks at least, and will then make a tour of the state, visiting various places of interest throughout the winter.

With but one exception, Mr. and Mrs. Monks have been in the novelty business in Daytona longer than any of the present stores of this nature. The first year they operated here they occupied a small place near Volusia avenue on Beach street, the second year selling from a boat anchored in the river, where Clark's Millinery boat now stands. Fifteen years ago they built the building on South Beach street, where they have conducted the business since that time.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Monks will regret to learn that they no longer will be connected with the business life of the community, but trust that rest and recuperation will assist in restoring both to good health.

M. A. Joslin, of Caro, Mich., is the lessee, who is now in charge of the Monks store on South Beach street. Mr. Joslin has been in the mercantile business for many years, operating stores at both Caro and Bad Axe, Mich., and has experience which will greatly assist him in the operation of his new store.

The decision to retire was made by Mr. Monks following an injury to his foot which has seriously handicapped him for the past year, although it has improved considerably, since a summer spent in the Pennsylvania mountains, from which place they returned several weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Monks expect to remain in Daytona for several weeks at least, and will then make a tour of the state, visiting various places of interest throughout the winter.

With but one exception, Mr. and Mrs. Monks have been in the novelty business in Daytona longer than any of the present stores of this nature. The first year they operated here they occupied a small place near Volusia avenue on Beach street, the second year selling from a boat anchored in the river, where Clark's Millinery boat now stands. Fifteen years ago they built the building on South Beach street, where they have conducted the business since that time.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Monks will regret to learn that they no longer will be connected with the business life of the community, but trust that rest and recuperation will assist in restoring both to good health.

$10,000.00 MAN WANTED
We want an exclusive dealer in every county in the state to sell Matthews Fall Automatic Light and Power Plants for country homes; in successful use for twenty years.

If you are the sort of man who can interest owners of country homes, farmers, dairymen and merchants in towns without electric lights in high grade equipment of unquestionable merit, we have a proposition involving an investment of only about $1,000 that will open up for you a permanent, profitable business which will expand automatically year by year. Write us for details, including description of our sales methods, which insure the success of Matthews dealers.

Many Businesses Open for Winter Season of '20-'21

The winter season of 1920-21 was apparently officially opened Saturday by a number of winter stores commencing the season's business at that time. While there are a half dozen or so stores which are not opened as yet, but which will open by November 1st, a majority of the winter places of business are now catering to the trade.

The new market and grocery store of W. F. Hurley & Co., which opened Saturday in the Arcade, got off to a flying start. Mr. Hurley and his partners reporting a most satisfactory business on the opening day.

The same report is received from the People's Market, Havens & Wright, proprietors, who opened Saturday at their location on Beach street and Myrtle avenue.

The Fifth Avenue Gown Shop is now in full season's swing, with Mrs. McCoin in charge, she having sold the Daytona Specialty Shop earlier in the season.

Mrs. Robert Smith, owner of the Little Gray Shoppe on Volusia avenue, arrived yesterday from a summer season at Kunnepunkport, Me., and will open as soon as stock is arranged.

The New York Shop, on South Beach street, opened this morning for the season, with the Misses Laura and Florence Whelpley in charge, after having made a number of improvements and alterations to their location in the Clark building.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. have arrived in Daytona, but the date of the opening of their beauty parlor in the former Anderson building on South Beach street is still indefinite, but repairs and alterations are proceeding.

Brucy's new drug store at Beach street and Orange avenue will be opened, it is thought, at the end of the present week, work being rushed in order that the opening may be held Saturday. A large marble soda fountain, new furnishings and show cases make the new drug store one of the finest on the East Coast.

Friz's present appearance it is not likely that the Postal Telegraph will be able to open their Magnolia avenue offices by November 1st, but it is believed the office will open shortly after that date.

DeLand Celebrates Hallow'en Friday, Fire Works Display

Merchants of DeLand are putting on an old fashioned Hallow'en celebration Friday evening of this week which promises to draw hundreds from every part of the county.

A pyrotechnical display, such as has never before been seen in the South is promised, a street dance with music by the DeLand band, special moving picture and other attractions are features which will be given.

The celebration is being put on under the joint auspices of the DeLand band and the DeLand Commercial club. Many trade bargains are to attend the celebration, and the works display to be given on the field, from 3 to 5 o'clock.

tractions are features which will be given.

"LANGUID"—

THAT'S THE WORD

Not Sick Exactly, Just Seem to Have No Ambition.

An Awful Feeling Seldom Necessary

Pepto-Mangan, the Red Blood Builder, Does Away with Languor

If you don't feel like doing things, you won't. If you wonder where some people get all their energy, the answer is from good food which in turn makes rich, red blood.

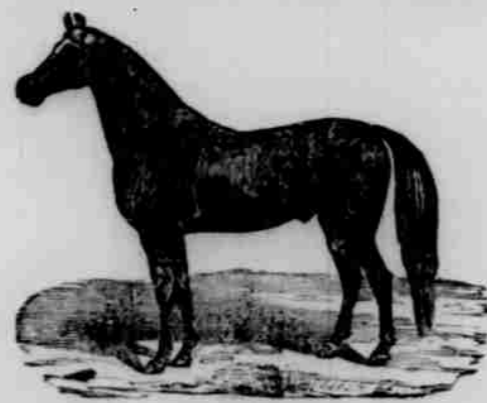

If your food does not give the nourishment and vigor it should, it is most likely that your blood is so weak that it needs a little extra help for a time to build it up to normal strength.

Thousands of men and women have been restored to vigorous health and lasting happiness by Gude's Pepto-Mangan. This beneficial blood tonic contains the very properties so vitally needed to improve the blood. Pepto-Mangan, if taken for a few weeks, will enrich the blood and create thousands of the tiny red blood cells that are so necessary to carry nourishment and strength to every part of the body.

Be sure to ask your druggist for "Gude's" when you order Pepto-Mangan. For convenience it is prepared in liquid and tablet form, both possessing exactly the same medicinal properties. "Gude's" is the genuine Pepto-Mangan. Look for the name "Gude's" on the package.—Advt.

MACSWINEY, MAYOR OF CORK, DIES ON 74TH DAY, HUNGER STRIKE

active independently of or against the advice of his ministers. The second was whether the Catholic clergy, representing a church which holds suicide to be a crime, could consistently administer the sacraments to hunger strikers. The King's reply through the Secretary of State for War, to the petition of members of Parliament was generally interpreted to mean that the King's personal leaning was toward granting a pardon. But since Premier Lloyd George and the foreign minister, A. Bonar Law, were at the same time issuing arguments against clemency for the Lord Mayor, it was evident that any action in that direction by the King would be against the advice of his ministers.

The newspapers published many editorials and letters setting forth, on one hand, that King George should not be embarrassed by direct appeals to him and, on the other hand, that he should and had the right to exercise his nominal constitutional power of pardoning.

Mac Swiney's hunger strike was begun on August 12 when, with ten of his associates, he was arrested by soldiers in Cork while attending a session of a Sinn Fein court. After trial by a court-martial under the regulations of the Defense of the Realm Act, he was found guilty of sedition and sentenced to two years' imprisonment, which he spent serving in British prisons in London.

MacSwiney, then an Alderman of Cork, was elected Lord Mayor of the city at a special session of the Corporation on March 20 of this year. He was a well-known Sinn Fein leader and, prior to his election, had been deported and imprisoned several times, one of the latest notable instances of his confinement having been in 1916 in connection with the Irish Easter revolt.

When arrested on August 12, MacSwiney managed to escape to the street from the back of the City Hall, which soldiers had surrounded, but was captured outside. He was taken to the military barracks and came up for trial on August 16. The court-martial found him guilty of having control of the secret police cipher, of having in his possession a document likely to cause disaffection, namely, a copy of a resolution of the Cork Corporation pledging allegiance to the Dail Eireann, the Irish Republican Parliament, and of having made seditious speech on the occasion of his election.

Already weak at the trial because of his refusal to take food, MacSwiney disputed the jurisdiction of the court, saying: "I am the lord mayor of this city and its chief magistrate. I declare this court illegal and those taking part in it liable to arrest under the laws of the Irish republic."

The day following his trial, Lord Mayor MacSwiney was deported to England aboard a destroyer, under a heavy military escort and lodged in Brixton jail. The government announced an attempt to force MacSwiney to accept a pardon.

MacSwiney's hunger strike, which began on August 12, was the first of the kind since the death of Thomas Russell in 1916. It was the first of the kind since the death of Thomas Russell in 1916. It was the first of the kind since the death of Thomas Russell in 1916.

During his imprisonment, the Lord Mayor received numerous messages of encouragement and also petitions to abandon his strike. He replied to the latter that if he gave up his fight he would "give away both liberty and that he would 'rather die than do that.'"
